Fire Interrupts Renovation

Morrisville and Yardley firemen clamber over the flaming remains of the old Robert Morris High School which blazed for more than an hour yesterday. The school was being remodeled into an elementary school and was to have been ready for

IKE ASKS FREE WORLD VOTE

Cites 7-Year Record

INTERNATIONAL AMPHITHEATRE, Chicago (UPI) — President Eisenhower, proudly defending his years in the White House, hurled a twin challenge Tuesday night at Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev and Sen. John F. Kennedy.

In a speech which brought the Republican National Convention to its emotional peak, Eisenhower challenged Khrushchev to worldwide elections under United Nations auspices to find out whether mankind wants to live under freedom or Communism.

To Kennedy, the Democratic presidential nominee, his challenge was: Try to persuade the American people to turn against an administration record of "unprecedented prosperity ... the strongest security system in the world, ... more Americans today employed, at higher wages and with more take-home pay than ever before in our history."

Predicts Kennedy Defeat

Eisenhower predicted Kennedy would lose and Khrushchev would say "no."

"The truth — the whole truth" will lead the nation to elect a Republican to succeed him, Eisenhower said, "and that will be a blessing for America."

As for "the Soviet dictator" Khrushchev, Eisenhower said: "I challenge him to make this test: 'Will he agree to the holding of free elections under the sponsorship of the United Nations to permit people everywhere — in every nation and on every continent, to vote on one single, simple issue:

"That issue is: Do you want to (Continue" on Page 3, Col. 6)

Wonderful Thrill

Hutton Calls Ike's Speech 'Best Ever'

"It was a tremendous, wonderful thrill," Bucks County Delegate L. John Hutton said this morning as he recalled the way he felt when President Dwight D. Eisenhower addressed the Republican National Convention last night in Chicago.

"I think it was one of the best speeches he has ever made," Hutton said in a telephone conversation from his room at the Palmer House Hotel, Chicago. Hutton is an Edgely resident.

Hutton described the Pennsylvania delegation's demonstration for the President as the "biggest in the convention. I hope the people back home could see it on television."

Weary GOP To Nominate Nixon Today

CHICAGO (UPI)—Battle-weary Republicans closed ranks after a four-day convention struggle today to adopt a compromise platform and nominate Vice President Richard M. Nixon for the White House.

Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, was expected to be named Nixon's vice presidential running mate for the 1960 presidential election. However, Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky, GOP national chairman, was not yet counted out.

The way was cleared for tonight's climactic session when the platform committee reshaped planks on civil rights, defense and foreign policy to meet Nixon's demands.

The overhauled planks did not go all the way to fit the pattern set by Nixon and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller in their secret negotiations last weekend. But Nixon's headquarters indicated they were satisfactory, and Southern leaders abandoned their battle against them.

Rockefeller Disappointed

Rockefeller issued an early morning statement saying he was disappointed with parts of the civil rights plank but was willing to go along with it.

Good Evening!

All over but the formalities.

Nixon in complete command of the tourist gathering in Chicago and undisputedly running the show. The conservative Goldwater boys don't like it, but it's what the GOP has needed for many, many years — real, assertive, imaginative leadership.

The nominations tonight. That should mean Nixon by acclamation, Henry Cabot Lodge as his traveling companion.

Eisenhower laid it on the line last night — hard and well — and his defense of the administration's foreign policy was one the whole world needed to hear.

Getting along with the Kremlin characters has been no easy task and we'll have to string along with Mr. Ike that America has done quite a job of it in spite of bully-boy Khrushchev's efforts to turn the world upside down.

Anyhow, the rains might welcome.

Now the trick is to keep these showers going for a few days. That would do the trick of keeping the power-mowers whining all over the place during the week-end.

County budget of $4,076,248 approved by the commissioners and it's $150,000 short of actual anticipated expenditures.

We're not sure that that's good. If the budget couldn't be revised after that $13,000,000 assessment error, then it's a sure bet that the spending will have to be curtailed.

And what do you know? Phillies got in the spirit of Chicago and whipped the Cubs.

If they do it again today they'll have a winning streak going. And this they need if they're going to climb to sixth place before the season ends.

"I'm sorry," said the dentist, "but I cannot give you an appointment this afternoon. I have 18 cavities to fill." And he picked up his golf bag and went out.

A man's horse sense deserts him when he's feeling his oats.

Success is relative. The more success, the more relatives.

Watch your driving.

Fire Strikes Old Morrisville High

One of the worst fires in the history of the borough struck the old Morrisville High School yesterday afternoon.

The building, already partially demolished by workmen hurrying to complete a $530,000 renovation of the structure, was to open in December as the Manohar R. Reiter Elementary School.

The third floor of the building was completely gutted. Joists of the second floor were damaged by fire.

Estimates of damages were not immediately available, although it is certain that considerable time will be lost in the renovation.

Cause of the blaze is believed to have been an acetylene torch used by one of the workmen during the day, according to Morrisville Fire Chief Frank Cowell.

The fire broke out on the third floor between the ceiling and the roof, just below the clock tower, at about 5:05 p.m. Fifteen minutes after firemen arrived the roof collapsed and, with it, the tower clock that had been a landmark in the borough for more than 30 years.

Workmen had been using acetylene torches near where the blaze broke out during the day. The workers quit at 4:30 p.m. Cowell said that probably a portion of the ceiling that had been smoldering under the heat of an acetylene torch, flared up a half hour later.

The fire was visible in Trenton, two miles away, and traffic was jammed near the scene of the blaze.

Eight pieces of fire apparatus from the borough's Capitol View Fire Company and Union Fire Company 1 fought smoke and flames until 7:30 p.m. A few firemen remained at the scene until 11 p.m. to make sure the fire did not flare again.

Eighty men from the Morrisville fire companies and 20 men from Yardley's Fire Company, which also sent equipment to the school, were on hand to combat the fire. No injuries were reported.

Under Control

Cowell was assisted by Rowland Gorton, chief of the Capitol View Fire Company and assistant Morrisville fire chief. Also on hand were Bucks County Fire Marshal Fred K. Hibbs and Frank Miller, an assistant county fire marshal.

The blaze was brought under control in 45 minutes, Cowell said. Several hundred residents, many of whom had been students at the school, watched as leaping flames and billowing smoke destroyed the borough landmark.

The building was constructed in 1924, a wing being added in 1927. (Continued on Page 3, Col. 8)

Non-Profit Organization

Park Group Gets Tax Exempt Status

The Bucks County Park Foundation, a private, non-profit organization formed to set aside and preserve forests, fields and stream valleys in the county, has been exempted from federal income taxes.

The exemption was announced to the Foundation by J. F. Worley, chief of the tax exempt organization branch of the U. S. Treasury Department. It means that persons giving land to the Foundation to hold can deduct the gifts from their income tax, and property bequeathed in wills will not be taxed by the federal government.

The news was welcomed at the recent annual meeting of the Foundation, where John A. Diebold, Jr., of Holicong, vice president of the Insurance Co. of North America, was elected president. He succeeds Herbert Barnes, Warrington, who was president of the Foundation in its first three years.

Tax-Exempt Status Robert W. Pierson, executive director of the Bucks County Park Board who serves as executive secretary of the Foundation said the non-profit group has sought the tax-exempt status ever since it was established.

"This news, we feel, will be the key to getting gifts of land to set aside for conservation and possible park development. Many

Solicitor Says Alley Improvement Motion In Bristol Boro Illegal

The Bristol Borough Council members who were lost in the alleys at their July 11 meeting have been rescued by a legal opinion handed down by borough solicitor Edward Popkin.

At the council meeting, a move by Fifth Ward councilmen to authorize immediate repairs to an alley in that ward stirred up a good deal of confusion and a protest by Borough Council President William Veitch.

Veitch argued that the Fifth Ward councilmen were circumventing council's street and highway committee by bringing the motion for the improvements to the floor of council when it should have been studied first by the committee.

10 To 8 Vote

The motion to improve the alley had been approved by a 10 to 8 vote, apparently to the surprise of the Fifth Ward councilmen who introduced it. Informed sources report the Fifth Ward representatives primarily wanted to dramatize their demands for the improvements and never expected them to be approved by council.

The alley in question is located off New Brook St., between Radcliffe and Wood Sts. It is small, L-shaped, and is a dead end, but some Fifth Ward residents want it improved.

In his legal opinion, Popkin ruled that the motion by Borough Council was illegal. He said the improvements must first be considered by the Bristol Borough Planning Commission before council can act on a motion.

Ten Day Delay

Popkin said that the approval of the planning commission was not necessary but that the board must have the proposal for ten days before Borough Council can act.

Two To One Vote

Bucks Commissioners Adopt $3,652,020 Deficit Budget

A $3,652,020 Bucks County budget that includes a deficit was adopted by the County Commissioners yesterday over the dissenting vote of Minority Commissioner Adolph A. Andrews.

Andrews, the sole Democrat on the three-man county board said he thinks the budget is illegal because it does not provide sufficient income to meet expenses. The two Republican commissioners, Chairman Edward B. Boyer and John J. Bodley, admitted there is a deficit but said it is legal and will be greatly reduced by careful spending and extra income.

Andrews said the deficit is $186,000.

The budget was supposed to get its final vote last week, but with Boyer vacationing at the seashore, Andrews and Bodley were unable to agree on it. Boyer left Brant Beach, N. J., at 5:30 a.m. yesterday to attend the meeting and support the budget.

In addition to a general budget of $3,652,020, an institution district budget of $424,228 was adopted.

Country Club Pool Closed

Levittown's Country Club Pool, off of Snow Ball Drive, will be closed today and tomorrow morning for repairs.

Robert Whitman, Levittown Public Recreation Association administrator said that the pool should be open by noon tomorrow.

Workmen are repairing and replacing a bearing in the water circulating pump. Whitman explained.

The institution budget was adopted unanimously, with Andrews' support.

The general budget contains a five mill tax rate, the institution budget, 7 mills. These are the same rates set by the commissioners when the budget was drafted last month, which have already been applied on tax bills.

Local tax collectors, who have prepared the bills for mailing, had feared that the rate might be changed due to the discovery of an error which reduced the real estate assessments by some $13,000.

Struble Attends

David H. Struble, Falls Township tax collector who is secretary of the Pennsylvania Tax Collectors Association, attended the meeting and urged the Commissioners to leave the rate the same, even if it required reducing the budget.

The budget was actually increased from its proposed total last month, $3,547,819. The Commissioners said this was largely due to increased court costs this year. With the $13,000,000 error in Bristol Township assessments corrected, total county assessments, originally listed at $406,474,260 were entered as $392,672,360.

After the budget was approved, two votes to one, Boyer and Bodley issued a statement calling the (Continued on Page 3, Col. 1)

Bristol Terrace Rec Survey Under Way

Penn Center Sparks Study In Township

By Tom Tindall
Courier-Times Staff Writer

A survey to determine the summer recreational needs and desires of the citizens of Bristol Terrace One and Two and of Magnolia Gardens in Bristol Township is being conducted by the William Penn Center of Fallsington.

According to Thomas Colgan, executive director of the center, the survey was sparked by the "relative inadequacy" of the Bristol Township summer recreation program playground facilities at the Bristol Terrace Two Community School, where children of the area go to play.

Colgan said the most pressing need at the school is for volunteer janitorial help. He said there is no janitor assigned in the building now, since it is no longer used as a township school.

100 On Average Day
"It is virtually impossible," Colgan said, "for the one full-time instructor and his two young volunteer helpers to keep rest rooms and other facilities clean while supervising the activities, both inside and outside the building, of the more than 100 children who visit the playground on an average day."

Also badly needed to improve the Terrace Two playground, according to Colgan, are greater public interest, more supervisory help and more equipment.

He said there are 163 youngsters registered at the playground and only one supervisor to take care of them. At certain other playgrounds, on the other hand, he added, there are as many as one instructor for each ten registered students.

Volunteer Help
Supervising the Terrace Two playground now is Woodrow Wilson High School mathematics teacher Charles Collins. Most of the help he gets comes from Sandy Schraeder, 15, of 705 Anderson Ave., and Bob McMullen, 15, of 704 Anderson Ave., both Bristol Terrace Two.

Colgan said that two local service organizations have helped the children of the playground recently by making it possible for them to take the physical examinations they must have before taking part in the swimming program at the Wilson pool.

"Most of these youngsters," Colgan said, "could not have afforded the two or three dollars those physicals would have cost them."

Service Groups Aid
He said the William Penn Center arranged to have the children examined at 25 cents each, and the service groups made up the difference.

Also currently helping out at the playground are Paul Chalfont, director of the summer Work Camp project of the United Presbyterian Church of America, Richard Hepburn, community organization worker for the William Penn Center, and four college coeds working in Chalfont's program.

The college girls, each of whom paid for her own transportation to get here and for her board while she is here, will be leaving at the end of July. Hepburn will stay until the end of August.

The equipment situation at the Terrace Two playground is not desperate. On the other hand, neither is it entirely adequate, according to Colgan.

There are swings, a sliding board, a monkey bar, a deck shuffle board, and baseball and basketball equipment.

There are not sufficient handicraft supplies, however, and one sliding board, one shuffle board, four swings, and one monkey bar can become crowded with more than a hundred children likely to want to use them at any given time.

Persons or organizations wishing to help at the playground may contact Colgan at the William Penn Center, Fallsington, Windsor 5-5096.

Colgan said there will be a meeting at the Terrace Two Community School at 8 p.m. tomorrow to which the area residents are invited. He said the purpose of the meeting will be to advise the citizens of the kind of activities being done by the Work Camp volunteers.

Nixon Wants Lodge As His Running Mate

CHICAGO (UPI)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon wants Henry Cabot Lodge as his running mate in the 1960 presidential election.

The only other man still in the running as far as Nixon is concerned is Republican Chairman Thruston B. Morton. Nixon might give Morton the nod if there were a pressing need to please disgruntled conservatives. But Morton is rated only an outside bet.

Informed sources said Nixon has decided Lodge's record as U.S. ambassador to the United Nations would make him a valuable campaign partner in an election year of international tensions.

President Eisenhower also rates Lodge tops. But he has left the choice strictly up to Nixon.

Other Contenders Eliminated
Except for Morton, every other vice presidential contender has been eliminated, for all practical purposes.

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who might have had the vice presidential nomination for the asking, has taken himself out of the picture. He resisted new draft movements yesterday and said that if his name were placed in nomination for second billing "I would rise to ask that it be withdrawn."

Warm, Cloudy Weather Seen

The weather man promises that it will remain warm and humid today, with considerable cloudiness and scattered showers and thundershowers this afternoon and early this evening.

It will clear up later tonight, and the weather tomorrow should be fair and continued warm, but less humid.

High temperature today will be in the mid-80's, with a low to night in the mid-60's. Yesterday's high was 84 degrees at 3 p.m., and the low last night was 67 at 1 a.m.

Tomorrow's high is expected to reach the mid-80's.

Walter Pitzonka, manager of Pitzonka's Pansy Farm and Nursery, said today's scattered showers will be helpful to area gardeners and farmers, but suggested we order a steady, day-long rain to really get the soil back in shape. He said the ground is not totally dry to a depth of six inches.

It rained in Lower Bucks County nearly two weeks ago, on July 14 and 15.

Blough Says

Steel Production To Average 70%

NEW YORK (UPI)—Roger M. Blough, chairman of United States Steel Corp., predicted today the nation's steel mills would operate at 65 to 70 per cent of capacity in the fourth quarter and overall 1960 output probably would total only 105 million tons.

Blough's production estimate was the lowest by any steel executive so far this year.

Early 1960 predictions put the industry's output, at 120 million tons and higher, a figure which would have topped the all-time record of 117 million tons produced in 1955.

A fourth quarter operating rate of 65 to 70, Blough told a news conference following the release of "Big Steel's" second quarter figures, would be "about the same as that reported for the second quarter of this year."

The world's largest steel producer reported second quarter earnings fell sharply to $89,893,489 or $1.38 a share, from $148,363,193 or $2.64 a share in the record quarter a year ago. Directors retained the quarterly dividend of 7 cents paid since March of 1957.

Earnings of U.S. Steel during the first half of 1960 amounted to $192,472,241 or $3.35 a share, compared with $254,949,496 or $4.50 in the first half of 1959 when customers launched their big inventory build-up as a hedge against a possible steel strike.

Sales in the second quarter totaled $1,002,393,894 against $1,448,743,088 in the second 1959 quarter. In the first half sales slipped to $2,189,948,509 from $2,526,331,380 in the first six months of last year.

The head of U.S. Steel said the nation's steel mills would likely operate at a slightly lower rate than in the second quarter, noting that the operating rate of both U.S. Steel and the industry would be in the mid-50s.

U. S. Help Sought By Congo's Premier

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Congo Premier Patrice Lumumba today asked for United States help to make the Congo a "united, strong and democratic" country.

The 35-year-old African leader made the statement when he arrived at Washington National Airport in a drizzling rain for two days of talks with Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and other U.S. officials on the future of his strife-torn young nation.

After receiving a 19-gun salute, Lumumba said in an airport speech: "We wish the Republic of Congo to be unified, strong and prosperous. We desire true democracy in our country."

Then he added he was "confident we will find in the United States the aid we desire."

He said he wanted to "dissipate all misunderstanding" and make clear his month-old country wants "cordial and correct relations with all democratic countries."

Referring to the Congo disorders, now being quelled by the United Nations, Lumumba said, "the recent unhappy events which you all know about were not our fault."

Lumumba was greeted by Herter who told him his talks here would bring "increasingly close and beneficial" U.S. ties with the Congo.

"If the Western nations of the world wish to understand our position they may be sure of our aid."

Republicans their cues for the 1960 campaign Tuesday night in his appearance before the convention. Eisenhower's hard-hitting speech, exuding pride in the Republican past and confidence in a victory in November, aroused the convention to a wild emotional peak and helped soothe the wounds of the platform battle.

While repeating charges that Democrats are too willing to solve problems by spending more public funds, the President reserved his heaviest blows to reply to cries about U.S. weakness heard from the Democratic convention two weeks ago. He credited the nation with great military and economic strength and said:

"Whoever misleads by calculated use of some but not all the facts, whoever distorts the truth to serve selfish ambition, whoever asserts weakness where strength exists—makes a mockery of the democratic process and misrepresents our beloved country in the eyes of the watching world."

Delegates Cheer

Eisenhower said America's military might had been achieved by sacrifices, the armed forces and sacrifices of the people. He brought the delegates to their feet cheering when he said:

"To belittle the might, prestige, pride and capabilities of these groups does such violence to my sense of what is right that I have difficulty in restraining my feelings of indignation."

Eisenhower had approved changes in the defense plank but the revisions still fell short of Rockefeller's defense program demands. The changes pledged to "accelerate as necessary" the missile programs to provide "any necessary increased expenditures to meet new situations."

On civil rights, the platform committee added pledges for legislation to help desegregate schools and to prohibit discrimination in housing, and for action to strengthen the Senate's filibuster rule. But it stopped short of adopting the Nixon-Rockefeller request for a specific endorsement of the objectives of Negro sit-in demonstrations.

Taken opposition to a first ballot nomination for Nixon faded as tonight's balloting approached.

Rockefeller, long an inactive candidate available for a draft, endorsed Nixon Tuesday and the previously uncommitted 96-vote delegation from New York threw its support to the vice president.

Boro In "Good Shape" To Begin Redevelopment

Morrisville is in a good position to begin redevelopment plans, a pair of experts from the state's Department of Commerce told borough officials last night.

The state representatives intimated that, if planned correctly, redevelopment could help pay a portion of the renovation costs of the Mannoah P. Reiter School.

Representing the Commonwealth were Robert A. Cox, Jr., of the Housing and Redevelopment Division, and R. Otto Amann, regional supervisor of planning. Council members and several members of the borough's Planning Commission were on hand to hear their talk.

Housing Code Needed

Cox and Amann explained that the borough must pass a housing code and bring its master plan, created by New Hope planning consultant Russell Van Ness Black in 1952, up to date. All other requirements — such as electrical code, building code, and a set of borough ordinances — have been met, Cox said.

Once these requirements have been met, Cox added, the borough could go ahead with planning of areas it would like to develop.

Councilman Thomas Rohner, also a member of the Planning Commission, said that the Bridge St. business section would probably be the first area slated for redevelopment. He added that this would also depend on what updating of the borough's master plan revealed.

Main Instrument

Cox and Amann agreed that the Planning Commission, which has been for the most part standing by since it was created last year, would be a main instrument of planning.

They said that it would be the planning commission which would have to specify exactly which area will be redeveloped. The commission will have to certify

Driver Injured When Dump Truck Overtakes

Joseph Jones of Neptune, N.J., was injured yesterday when a dump truck overturned on the new Scudders Falls Bridge in Lower Makefield.

Police said Jones, driver of the truck, was standing near the vehicle which had become stuck near the Pennsylvania side of the bridge. As workmen labored to free the truck, it tipped over, police reported.

Jones was struck on the leg by the vehicle as it overturned, police said.

He was taken to Mercer Hospital, Trenton, where he was treated and released.

those areas as blighted and give specific reasons why the sections have been so certified.

Amann said that the average time of each project spent in the planning stage is about 18 months. A typical project can be completed in three years, Cox added.

Commissioners' Part

Of primary importance in the entire process, Cox said, is the creation of a Redevelopment Authority by the Bucks County Board of Commissioners. The borough council, in its last meeting, passed a resolution asking the county to create just such a unit.

Cox and Amann stressed the importance of community support of any project planned by council. The success of any project would depend on the extent of such support, they said.
